

I Wish I Would Have....

- Known how much an effect an F has on GPA's – Neil McClaran
- Known not to blow off freshman year because it's hard to bring up your GPA later on –Nicole Bangs
- Known not to make a bad impression with teachers because it will ruin your year with them. – Aaron O'Brien
- Known how to distribute my time. – Gen Taylor
- Gotten involved in more clubs early on in school. – Lindsay Marimen
- Balanced my time between homework and extracurricular activities better. – Re'Nesha Weston
- Spent less time caring what people were thinking about me, and more time being happy with myself. – Jenny Duda
- Taken more responsibility for my class schedules and not left it to the counselors. – Stefanie Edwards
- Known more about the classes I was taking. – Kevin Frank
- Known how big of a difference it is from an A to a B+. – Alicia Porras
- Taken the SAT at the end of freshman year instead of constantly putting it off. – Josh Miracle
- Played more sports. – Rob Smallman
- Met more new friends instead of sticking to the same old group. – Shaun Martinez & Robin Mitrison
- Known to have your parking pass & park in your lot because they give tickets! – Nicole Bangs

- Been more organized and focused. – Jacob Novak
- Had better study habits my freshman year. – Kim Titak
- Been more influenced by my parents in their belief that I can be successful in everything I do. – Jennifer Trcka
- Known not to be involved in everything at once. – Katie Berg
- Known to be myself and not be someone I'm not. – Annie Weidner
- Realized how much more I was capable of achieving. Life is full of amazing possibilities; it's just a matter of taking them. – Monica Torres
- Been more informed about available extracurricular activities. – Wayne Larson
- Stopped procrastinating. – Cassie Meingasner